Politics- I chose to include this section in my mind map because I wanted to explain and learn more about how the assassination of JFK affected politics.

Prior:

Cuban Missile Crisis- I thought it was important to include the Cuban Missile Crisis because it was one of the most significant events during JFK's Presidency, and because there are conspiracies that the Cuban Missile Crisis may have led to JFK's assassination. There have been conspiracies that Cuba may have been involved in the assassination.

- The Cuban Missile Crisis was a dangerous confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union where we came close to a nuclear conflict
- There have been conspiracies that Cuba was involved in the assassination of JFK
- JFK embargoed trade with Cuba

After:

Lyndon B. Johnson- I included Lyndon B. Johnson because I wanted to explain everything he accomplished during his time as President after JFK was assassinated. On my mind map I connected Lyndon B. Johnson to the Warren Commission because he was the person who started the Commission.

Civil Rights Act of 1964- The Civil Rights Act was a labor law legislation that outlawed discrimination on the basis of race, gender, color, or religion. Lyndon B. Johnson passed this act during his Presidency. JFK was a part of the Civil Rights Act, but was assassinated before he was able to pass it. Instead, Lyndon B. Johnson passed the Act.

- Labor law legislation that outlawed discrimination on the basis of race, gender, color, or religion

Medicare and Medicaid- Medicare and Medicaid were the first public health insurance programs in the United States. Public health insurance was Kennedy's idea and he was in the process of planning Medicare and Medicaid. However, Lyndon B. Johnson was the President who signed the bill because Kennedy got assassinated.

- The first public health insurance programs in the United States
- The bill was signed into law by Lyndon B. Johnson on July 30 1965

25th Amendment- Medicare and Medicaid were the first public health insurance programs in the United States. Public health insurance was Kennedy's idea and he was in the process of planning Medicare and Medicaid. However, Lyndon B. Johnson was the President who signed the bill because Kennedy was assassinated.

- An amendment in the Constitution of the United States that says if the President becomes unable to do their job the Vice President becomes the President
- Passed by Congress on July 6th, 1965 and was ratified on February 10th, 1967
- The 25th Amendment was added as a result of the assassination of John. F Kennedy

Identity- I chose to include this section in my mind map because I wanted to explain and learn more about how the assassination JFK affected how John F. Kennedy was viewed and how the presidency was viewed in general.

Prior:

After:

Warren Commission- The Warren Commission investigated and concluded the assassination of John F. Kennedy. I connected the Warren Commission to politics because the Warren Commission became a very political topic. The Warren Commission became a very political topic because many people believe that the Warren Commission didn't tell all of the information they had about Kennedy's assassination . In fact, only 30% of Americans believe the Warren Commission told the truth.

- The Warren Commission investigated the assassination of John F. Kennedy
- Both Lyndon Johnson and members of the Kennedy family privately disagreed with the Warren Commission.
- An estimated 70% of people don't trust the Warren Commission and believe that the Warren Commission left out details about his assassination

Public View- When John F. Kennedy was alive; he was viewed as charming, clever and sharp minded. John F. Kennedy was a democratic President.

- Americans viewed him as charming, clever, and sharp minded
- Politicians believe that today JFK would have been a republican due to the fact that the parties have changed so much
